

STATE OFFICIALS TO INVESTIGATE WRECK

NINE KILLED, 28 WERE INJURED

Building Crumbled Without Warning
—Was Crowded With Diners
When It Fell.

(Associated Press)

Akron, O., May 16—State and city officials are planning an inquiry into the collapse of the Crystal restaurant last evening, in which nine were killed and 28 injured.

The accident occurred shortly after six o'clock, at a time when the restaurant was crowded with diners. The building crumbled into a mass of wreckage so suddenly that none of the patrons had an opportunity to move from their tables and rush for the doors.

Fifty in Restaurant.

Rescuers who came running to the scene a few moments later heard no sound of groans or cries for help, those who were not killed outright being knocked unconscious.

Of fifty persons known to have been in the restaurant, only two or three carried out by rescuers showed any signs of life, and they were so badly crushed as to make death a matter of few hours. One of the proprietors, a cook and several dishwashers escaped from a door of the kitchen, but were injured by falling bricks.

Foundation Shaken by Blasts.

Blasting in an excavation for a new building next door to the Crystal restaurant unsettled the foundations of the structure and, following the collapse, part of the ruins slid into the excavation.

The entire fire department of Akron was called out. As firemen, police and volunteers from the crowds that choked the streets nearby worked, a line of ambulances waited. Bodies were rushed to hospitals, which quickly became morgues.

The restaurant, owned by Serris Brothers, was one of the most popular in the downtown district and every table known to have been filled. It occupied the former home of the Akron Beacon-Journal, one of the oldest buildings in the city.

Like House of Cards.

Scarcely a tremble preceded the crash, according to eyewitnesses across the street. A sudden roar, which still echoes in the minds of the victims, was heard for blocks, and the structure fell like a house of cards.

The front wall, a two-story affair, crashed backward onto the diners. They were also caught by the north wall, while the south wall tumbled outward. The mortar between the brick, brittle with age, crumbled under the weight of the roof, and the walls sank into broken particles, rather than fell in any certain direction.

As the bodies of victims were borne from the ruins, members of their families stepped forward to identify them. Touching scenes were enacted as a wife recognized the body of a husband and onlookers were moved to tears when a mother picked up the body of a child.

COUNCIL OBJECTS TO SOFT DRINK SALOONS

FORMER DRAM SHOPS, SERVING SOFT DRINKS, COME IN FOR DISCUSSION.

NEW WALKS ON THE BRIDGE

Council Appropriates Sum To Replant Galena Ave. Bridge—New Light Contract.

The soft drink parlors which are doing business in a few of the rooms formerly occupied by dram shops of the city came in for discussion at the meeting of the city council this forenoon, and the commissioners expressed the opinion that the presence of these places will prove a detriment to the owners securing saloon licenses if the supreme court holds that the women's vote in local option matters is illegal, in hope of which the saloon men are holding their leases on the buildings.

While the commissioners did not express a belief that any of the proprietors of these soft drink places are violating any of the laws or ordinances regarding local option territory, they plainly indicated their opinion that the presence of a large crowd before the bars in the rooms on evenings and Sundays gave a decidedly saloon-like appearance to the places, and expressed a determination that the ex-saloon men who have closed their doors tightly will receive most consideration from the council in case the high tribunal decides that the woman vote in the local option election shall not be regarded as valid.

Will Fix Bridge.

At the meeting Commissioner Dana was authorized to expend a large appropriation in repairing the walks on the Galena avenue bridge. Many of the planks in the bridge are badly worn and in some cases there are wide openings between the boards. New planks will be laid where necessary, the work to start as soon as possible.

New Light Contract.

Mayor Schmidt reported to the council that he had obtained a reduction of $5 per light for the ornamental street lights, for which the contract has expired, the new figure representing a saving of over $200 yearly for the city. The council authorized him to contract with the I. N. U. for the ornamental street lights for a period of four years at $42 per light per annum.

Paid Bills.

Semi-monthly labor bills against the city amounting to $1030.22 were ordered paid.

INTERURBAN CAR AND AUTO IN COLLISION

STERLING MACHINE CAME OUT
SECOND BEST IN MISRAP ON SUNDAY EVENING.

Sterling, May 15—Residents of W. 4th street in the vicinity of Wallace school were awakened last night by a loud crash, and investigation revealed the fact that a west bound 5-passenger Overland touring car and the east bound Dixon interurban had collided just west of the Avenue E crossing. The auto is owned by George E. Hall of 14th avenue and was driven by his son Roy, who was taking three companions home from a restaurant. Hall's version of the affair is that they were driving west on Fourth street at moderate speed and did not see the interurban, which was without a headlight. According to the motorman's side of the affair the auto had started to cross the track when almost upon the car. The interurban was stopped to avoid a collision when the driver evidently changed his mind and turned back to a straight course, the head-on collision resulting. One front wheel of the auto was twisted off, the running board was badly broken, the headlights were broken and the entire side of the car was badly scratched. The front stop of the interurban was knocked off and the car was badly scratched. One of the occupants of the auto was thrown out, although all of them escaped without a bruise. The crash was heard over a block away and that the outcome was not more serious than this is considered as most remarkable.

Concerts Every Friday

The committee which has been in charge of the solicitation of funds for the summer concerts reported Monday evening that sufficient money to insure twelve concerts has been subscribed and collected and is now in the bank ready for the musicians at the end of each concert. It was determined to hold a concert every Friday evening, the place to be determined at the next band meeting.

However, the Chamber of Commerce band will advertise extensively throughout the surrounding territory that there will be a band concert in Dixon every Friday evening, commencing June 9, weather permitting, and the night will not be changed. In this manner it is planned to let the people of this section of the state know that there will always be something doing in Dixon on Friday evenings—and visitors will get the habit of coming here to get acquainted.

BAUME'S DECISION MAY SET PRECEDENT

FRING OF PRAEPIE NOT START-ING SUIT, RULES CIR-CUIT JUDGE.

A decision rendered in the circuit court at Oregon last Saturday afternoon by Judge Baume may establish a precedent in the courts of the state. It is the Quinto vs. American Horse Insuring company of Providence, R. I.

Quinto insured a valuable horse for the company for $1500. There is a clause in the policy which stipulates that if satisfactory settlement can not be reached and the policy holder desires to start a suit against the company, it must be done within six months following the death of the animal; if it is not done then the contract is void. In this case the animal died and no suit was brought after the company refused to settle the claim, until the last day of the six months period, then Gardner & Gardner of Rochelle filed a praecipe. Attorney Graham of Chicago, for the defense, raised the question that the filing of a praecipe was not the start of a suit and not unless proper summons were issued was a suit started. There were long arguments, whereupon Judge Baume ordered a verdict in favor of the defendant. In other words holding that a praecipe was not the start of a suit.

It is stated that this feature has never been brought up before in the courts of the state and there is no decision upon the number of court decisions relative to it. It is probably the case will be appealed to a higher court.

Another feature of the case was that several witnesses in the suit did not report and bench warrants were issued for them. One of them was assessed a fine of $10 and costs by Judge Baume when it was shown that he made an attempt to evade the officer.

Thomas Blackburn was fined $3 and costs by Justice Gehant Thursday evening for drunkenness.

AMBASSADOR TELLS LANSING

CANT RELINQUISH SOME RIGHTS

(Associated Press)

Washington, May 16—Sir Cecil Spring Rice, British ambassador, today told Sec. Lansing his government is striving to eliminate delays and interference with the mails, to which the United States was about to make protest, but that Great Britain can not relinquish her right to prevent the use of the mails for the transportation of food and information by its enemies.

Washington, May 16—The American government is preparing a protest characterized by officials as "very vigorous" against the interference with mails to and from the United States by Great Britain. A note to be sent forward in the near future will take the position that the United States can no longer countenance seizure and detention of mails to and from the United States, particularly those concerning neutrals.

The reply recently received from Great Britain to the latest American note protesting against interference with American mails is considered unsatisfactory.

Protests have been made to the government by many individuals and firms injured by the frequent long delays to which mails between Europe and the United States have been subjected.

To Show U. S.

Washington, May 16—Carranza has agreed to Scott's informal agreement with Obregon, which provides that Carranza forces shall endeavor to show their ability to control the situation in northern Mexico while the American troops remain for the time being.

The distribution of troops under the plan of organization of the border patrol on which Gen. Funston has been working since his return to headquarters from El Paso, began today.

Carranza Convinced

The net result of the military conference at El Paso as reported today by Gen. Hugh Scott to Sec. Baker has been to convince Carranza that the United States has no other purpose than to stamp out brigandage in Mexico, and as a consequence there exists substantially an unwritten understanding that Carranza's forces will endeavor to demonstrate their ability to handle the situation, as a necessary first step toward the withdrawal of the American expedition.

Villa Has Recovered.

According to a story told in field headquarters in Mexico by a Mexican captured late in April, Gen. Villa has recovered from his wounds and is attempting to raise a new army in the state of Durango.

On Bandits' Trail.

Cavalrymen are riding hard on the trail of 50 bandits in the vicinity of Rubio ranch, 20 miles from the field headquarters, where three Villistas, including Julio Cardenas, were killed Sunday by Americans.

Train Wrecked.

Bandits, thought to be Mexicans from across the border, removed the spikes from three rails on the Southern Pacific near Fort Hancock, 54 miles east of El Paso, causing the derailment of the eastbound Sunset Express. Six are reported hurt. Officials of the railroad company said the wreck was not due to bandits.

For Motorcycle Corps.

Sec. Baker will probably approve Gen. Funston's recommendation for a motorcycle corps of 30 tandems and 18 single machines for border patrol duty.

Marathon, Tex., May 16—Major Langhorne's command, eighty miles below the border in pursuit of the Glen Springs raiders, has had an engagement with bandits. At least one trooper was wounded.

Laredo, Tex., May 16—According to reports brought by American passengers arriving here, a train which left Mexico City for Cuernavaca last Thursday night with 1,000 passengers aboard was derailed at Ayuzco, a short distance from the capital, by Zapatistas.

One hundred and fifty persons are said to have been burned to death in one car.

Another car turned over and many were badly injured, according to the reports.

Kill Three Mexican Bandits.

Lake Iscates, Mex., May 16—Three bandits, including Julio Cardenas, the Villa leader, were killed in a skirmish with an American detachment near Rubio ranch, twenty miles east of here, Sunday.

The Americans, twelve strong, under Lieutenant George S. Patton, comprised an automobile detachment sent to purchase forage. The bandits fired upon Lieutenant Patton and his guide after they had alighted from the machines and were approaching the ranch house. The Americans deployed to prevent the escape of the snipers and Lieutenant Patton returned the fire, wounding the bandits, who meanwhile fired through the rear of the house. Overtaken later, the Mexicans engaged the Americans in a rifle duel, in which the three Mexicans were killed. There were no American casualties.

Mexicans Rob Train.

Laredo, Tex., May 16—A train, attached to which was the private car of Charles A. Douglas, President Wilson's representative in Mexico, was derailed by an explosion between Queretaro and Palma Gonzales, Mexico, last Friday and the passengers, including a Carranza paymaster, were robbed, according to a report brought Russ Commander Outwits Teu- ton and Turkish Strategists.

Petrograd, May 16.—Developing a swift offensive movement in the extreme south, the Russians have cross- ed the Persian frontier southwest of Lake Urmiah and are now within eighty miles of the main line of communication of the Turkish army south of Bagdad.

That the grand duke has outwitted the Turks and their German tutors is the belief here. Following the victo- ries at Erzerum and Trebizond, the Russians pushed on in the direction of Erzinjan and Diarbekr, as if to cut off the Turkish Bagdad armies by a drive through the latter city.

The Turks moved re-enforcements eastward from Constantinople an- strengthened their lines on the Er- zinzan-Bitlis front to meet the expect- ed attack. Meanwhile the Russian left wing entered Mesopotamia at a point 300 miles southeast of the region in which the main Turkish force was concentrated.

MUSEUM GETS RARE TROPHY

PRESENTED WITH THE SMOKE DRIED HEAD OF A BRAZILIAN INDIAN

PRESERVED BY PARENTINTINS

Unlike Shrunken Examples From Up- per Amazon, This One is Natural Size

Washington, D. C.—Dr. C. Hart Merriam of Washington has just presented the United States National Museum with the smoke-dried head of a Brazilian Indian, obtained on the headwaters of the Tapajos River in 1777 or 1878.

This object is one of the few speci- mens in this country of these rare hu- man trophies collected and prepared by the Parentintin tribe of the Tapajos River in Para, Brazil.

It is the head of another tribesman, killed and preserved by the Parentintins; the dried skin is yellow and stretched tightly over the skull; the back hair hangs loose in bobbed style; the eyes are covered by wax cones or- namented by two small rodents' teeth to imitate the pupils of the eyes, and the ears still are decorated with the cord insertions and tufts of red and yellow parrot feathers worn by the Indian in life, it was suspended by a cord which still emerges from the mouth, but now it is arranged on a stand.

Unlike the better known Jibaros of the Upper Amazon, who preserve the heads of their enemies by removing the skull bones, and shrinking and drying the skin until the head is much reduced in size, the Parentintins leave the head in its normal form. They first remove the brain, then smoke the head by use of an aromatic wood until it is thoroughly dried, and hang it up to decorate their houses.

Dr. Merriam says that about 40 years ago while he was in New York City, Ernest T. Morris, a young South American explorer came to him with this head and several others which he desired to dispose of as soon as possi- ble, being in need of funds. In relat- ing his experiences, Morris stated that while he was traveling near the head- waters of the Tapajos River he was captured by the Indians and kept prisoner several years.

In attempting to make their captive into an Indian like themselves, they tattooed his cheeks and lower jaw with native pigments, which he found he could not remove. For a long time he was in fear for his life, as they threatened to kill him for his head, so to speak, which they would have hung from the lodge poles as a trophy. But for some reason he was spared, although he mentioned one instance when an Indian with whom he was talking was shot by an arrow and killed—his head going into the collec- tion.

After two or three years of impris- onment his captors became a little lax in their watch, and one night in 1877-78, Morris managed to escape in a small boat. He took eight of the trophy heads with him, knowing that they would be valuable objects to mu- seums of this country. By traveling only in the night and hiding in the day, he succeeded in descending the Tapajos River and reaching the Ama- zon, and finally the city of Para, where he secured passage to New York.

Arriving there he found himself stranded financially, with nothing but his ghastly heads as assets, and at the same time much embarrassed by the very noticeable tattooing with which his Indian captors had decorated his face. Unfortunately he could not raise a beard, and he would not appear in public as he was. Finding that Dr. Merriam was in the city, and knowing him to be a scientist, he de- cided to approach him in an endeavor to raise some money on the heads.

Dr. Merriam says they found no dif- ficulty in doing so; the American Mu- seum of Natural History taking two and himself one—he does not remem- ber where the others went, but recalls that all of them were sold at $75 each, netting the explorer about $600.

With the receipt of the money Mor- ris' spirits rose again, but having to place where he could seek seclusion from the public eye, he embarked on another trip to South America and as far as Dr. Merriam knows has never been heard from since.

GERMAN AID IN REVOLT BARED

Trial of Sir Roger Casement for Treason Is Begun.

PLANNED INVASION OF BRITAIN

Statement of Case by Prosecutor Falls to Disclose Important Evidence Which Government Has Gathered.— U. S. Priest Involved in Spreading Sedition Among Irish Prisoners.

London, May 16.—Part of the care- fully laid plans by which Sir Roger Casement and his confederates plot- ted to set up an independent republic in Ireland were revealed when Sir Roger was brought from the Tower of London for a preliminary hearing in the Bow street police court.

The crown reserved much of its evi- dence for the formal trial to be held later. Enough was presented, how- ever, to show that Casement planned with German aid to land not only one but several expeditions on the coast of Ireland and elsewhere on the British Isles.

The German auxiliary that accom- panied Casement and his comrades aboard the submarine U-19 to the Irish coast carried arms and munitions sufficient to equip a large force of rebels, Attorney General Smith de- clared.

Much War Munitions Sunk.

When the auxiliary was sunk by a British patrol-boat she carried to the bottom a million rounds of ammuni- tion, 20,000 rifles, ten machine guns and many bombs. These were to have been distributed to rebel bands count- ed on to rise and join Sir Roger in a victorious march on Dublin.

Clad in a seedy dark suit, with frayed sleeves, Sir Roger, once a fa- vorite in the British consular service, was arraigned on the charge of high treason, punishable by hanging.

Sir Roger entered the courtroom, smiling and nodding to some of the men who knew him before he was knighted. His face was covered with a stubby, greenish gray beard that gave his best smiles a ghastly look. He wore a pair of shoes requisitioned from the stocks of the British army. Bow street was packed.

Say American Priest Aided Plot.

Testimony that an American priest, Father Nicholson, aided Sir Roger in attempting to secure recruits for the German army from among Irish pris- oners at the Limberg prison camp was offered by Daniel O'Brien, an exchang- ed prisoner. O'Brien said there were 25,000 Irish prisoners at Limberg, but that few of them yielded to Father Nicholson's persuasion. Michael O'Connell, another exchange Irish prisoner, gave similar testimony.

It was the first high treason trial held in the old courtroom since Ar- thur Lynch was placed on trial as an aftermath of the Boer war.

In his opening statement Attorney General Smith declared the crown would prove that Sir Roger plotted not only the Irish rebellion but planned to land expeditions in Ireland and at several other places on the British coast. Several exchanged English prisoners will testify to this effect, he said.

DeKalb Chronicle: Cosmopolitan club members and a few out of town guests were bidden to a birthday "feast" which was planned for C. L. Iskovich last evening at his home on South Second street. Mrs. Iskovich invited the crowd to her home for 6:30 o'clock dinner and it was a surprised man who met his friends. Small tables were laid for the serving of the dinner and flowers added to the attractiveness of the home. Afterward five hundred amused. Mr. Iskovich's birthday remembrance from the club members was several dozen red roses. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Eichler and Mrs. Max Eichler of Dixon with Miss Edelman of Chicago.

Composer Recognized

Long Beach Press: George E. Krinbill, a Long Beach composer of many musical works and who for many years was a leading supervisor in the east, was complimented this afternoon at the special Parent-Teachers' program at the Horace Mann school where Mrs. Claude Anderson, the popular local soprano, sang several groups of pretty songs taken from different editions of Mr. Krinbill's works which have been used extensively in schools the country over.

Dixon people are always proud and pleased to hear of these successes for they feel that they have a particular claim upon Mr. Krinbill, who was here for a number of years. It was here that a number of his compositions were first introduced to the public.

With the Churches

The churches in Dixon generally observed Mother's day with appropriate and beautiful services. A. S. Paul's the pastor, Dr. E. D. Altman spoke words bearing a beautiful tribute to the mothers of the land. At the morning service Mrs. William Thomson fittingly sang, "Mother of Mine," and a male quartette composed of Messrs. Otto Weeks, George Heley, Frank Zuhl, and Harry Raffensberger sang, "Tell Mother I'll Be There," while in the evening a mixed quartette, Misses Floreschuetz and Pearce and Messrs. Otto Weeks and Norman Eichentz sang appropriate selections.

The Presbyterian church services were marked by good music both morning and evening, the pastor, Dr. A. J. Holland talking on Mother's Day. A large body of Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors attended the evening service. A special treat was the singing of "The Good Shepherd" by Miss Marjorie Wingert.

Dr. Lumsden at the morning service at the Methodist church had as his theme the mother of Christ standing by the cross. The sermon was particularly impressive. Robert Anderson sang, "Mother of Mine," and there were other special musical numbers.

At the North Side church, the Grace Evangelical, a union service of the Sunday School and church, proved very helpful.

Be Careful in Using Soap on Your Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulled coconut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Stetson Entertained

Mrs. Wingert's section of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church was pleasantly entertained by Mrs. C. H. Myers at an informal afternoon at her home. A short business session was held and plans were discussed of future work to be done, but the larger part of the afternoon was devoted to a good time over fancy work. Refreshments were served late in the afternoon with the little tots, Alice Wilson, Frances Edwards, Mildred Jacobs, and Owen Myers, assisting, and serving so daintily that much charm was added to the affair for the ladies. The refreshments were very enjoyable, as well. The next meeting will be held the second Friday in June with Mrs. James Sterling.

The paper of the afternoon was given by Miss Dysart, and consisted of a description of the remaining national parks, as the topic for the year was their study and this was the last meeting before the summer vacation. Estes Park, Colorado, and Hot Springs, Arkansas, were the two parks treated, with a short time spent upon the region of the Cliff Dwellers in Arizona. Estes Park is in the northern part of Colorado north and west of Denver in Larimer county. Pictures from a recent Travel magazine were used in illustrating the talk.

Current topics were given by various members, and the meeting adjourned after discussing the annual picnic to be given on May 26th at Lowell Park if the weather is favorable, the club program of study for the coming year in which interesting cities of the United States are seen through travel will be studied.

From Rockford

John Myers of Rockford was here Sunday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Myers, and his little daughter, Hazel, who makes her home here.

A FEARLESS PHYSICIAN.

Such a physician recently remarked: "The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over diseases of women is not because it is a stimulant, not because it is a palliative, but simply because it contains the very elements needed to tone up and strengthen the depleted organism." Of course this is so, otherwise it could not succeed as it has.

"The Wishing Ring"

The advance of tickets for the Rebekah lodge production, "The Wishing Ring" is very heavy; the S. R. O. sign is in evidence. The Dixon opera house will be packed for both performances of this beautiful comedy, comprising a cast of about 150 people.

Each and every lady of the Rebekah lodge has put forth her best effort in the last week to make this but success could be the outcome of the best in Dixon's career. Nothing but success could be the outcome of such heroic work. The high school girls are mastering the difficult dances with ease and all participants will be better perfect when the curtain rings up at 8:15 Thursday and Friday night.

Seats are on sale at Campbell's drug store and are going rapidly. Better look after your seats immediately and avoid the rush at the theatre. Remember, and do not miss this clever musical as your friends are staring.

Woman's Party Hat

On the 20th of this month will be exhibited by various milliners throughout the country the Woman's Party hat, the hat to be worn at the Chicago convention the 5th, 6th, and 7th of June by the members of that party when they start their campaign for national franchise for women and in Washington in about two weeks when they make their demonstration for admission of women to the senate. The hat is of white silk, straw and braid, with trimmings of the Woman's party colors, white, purple, and gold. The design is being kept a close secret.

MR. BRYAN'S PROPHECY.

Whatever the president may think of Mr. William Jennings Bryan personally, he will do well to take due note of Mr. Bryan's predictions as to the chances for democratic success at the coming election, says the Peoria Star. So will everyone else. Mr. Bryan cautions the democratic leaders that, instead of indulging in rosy dreams of what may take place in November, they had better spend a little time staring the facts in the face. He then points out that the combined vote of Taft and Roosevelt amounted to 1,300,000 more than that received by Mr. Wilson and that this vote promises to be combined against Mr. Wilson this fall. Mr. Bryan's modesty doubtless prevented him from also pointing out the further fact that he did not receive as many votes as did he (Bryan) in any of his campaigns. The figures are interesting as showing the personal popularity of the two men:

1898—Bryan	6,502,955
1900—Bryan	6,358,133
1908—Bryan	6,409,104
1912—Wilson	6,293,019

It will be seen that Mr. Wilson received less votes than did Mr. Bryan twenty years ago, although the popular vote had largely increased in the meantime, and that Bryan got more votes in every campaign he made than did Wilson. The plain truth is that the Wilson candidacy presents few attractive figures, because Mr. Wilson has failed in the first essential as a popular executive. He has refused to take steps to protect the lives of American citizens and has responded to the frantic appeals of Americans for relief from the Mexican situation by informing the public that someone has been lying about Mexico and then telling the unfortunates who were appealing to him for help that they had no business in Mexico. His tariff policy and his fiscal policy have been such as to bring disaster upon the country, and we are now paying the price in warlike war taxes and an increased price for almost every commodity. The people have no confidence in the president's ability to bring about an improvement in conditions, therefore they will vote against him at the coming election.

MILITIA EFFICIENT WORK.

The manner in which mob violence melted away before the organized and armed authority of the state embodied in the militia in the East Pittsburgh district speaks well for the efficiency with which the citizen soldiers handled the situation. The calm and determined air of authority of officers and men, the perfect discipline that prevailed and the unruffled attitude of forbearance toward certain acts of an irritating character all had their effect in impressing the excited mobs and bringing them to their senses. So businesslike and prompt was the advent of the troops in the trouble zone and so complete was their assumption of control of the situation that opposition vanished as a matter of course and disordered yielded to law-abiding authority without struggle. That is exactly as it should be. The men composing the National Guard are the fellow citizens and fellow workmen of those whose acts of violence were responsible for calling out the troops. They are earnest men, serving in a worthy cause—the cause of law and order—and it is meet and proper that those whom they are called upon to disperse should yield prompt obedience to their orders and refrain from the petty taunts and aspersions with which the militiamen have so often been greeted when in pursuit of a disagreeable duty.

Incidentally, while the necessity for the calling out of the guardsmen is to be deplored at all times, the incident furnishes a fine bit of spring training and practice for the men and came at a time when the interest of the public in all things military is at a high pitch. The quiet confidence, celerity and decision displayed by them afforded a splendid demonstration of their fitness and condition for any task that may be assigned to them and is highly creditable to the organization in every way. Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

HOME RULE FOR CHICAGO.

Chicago Herald: Frank O. Lowden, candidate for the republican nomination for governor, has answered Medill McCormick's very pertinent inquiries of some weeks ago with a declaration that he favors a constitutional convention, an executive budget, the consolidation of administrative bureaus into a few principal departments, and efficiency and economy measures along the lines suggested by the commission's well known plan. With respect to home rule for Chicago he says:

"I am in favor of according to Chicago home rule over its public utilities, which are primarily and essentially local." The sentence is quoted as given in the Herald's report. It may not escape notice that the sense would be somewhat altered if the comma were left out. Further on, however, Col. Lowden pertinently remarks: "We are beginning to see that Chicago demands, for its own good and the good of the state, special consideration in the matter of regulation of public utilities."

Admitting with Col. Lowden, that "the practical working of our present public utility law has been satisfactory to the cities and people downstate," what Chicago asks them to see is what Col. Lowden says "we are beginning to see," that Chicago's demands are for "the good of the state" as well as her own. The bare fact that Chicago has about 25 times the population of the next Illinois city makes her case one for "special consideration."

A VALUABLE SOLDIER.

In General Hugh Scott this country has a fine military asset; he is at once a soldier proved in practice and a diplomat who wins his opponent's confidence in his honesty and fair mindedness. There is an amusing element in the openly expressed astonishment of General Obregon, who is quoted as saying: "How he can be in politics and maintain that sterling honesty is more than I can understand, for politics and honesty do not travel together as a general rule." To find a "general" who is an able soldier, an honest dealer in international equity and a man who begets confidence wherever he goes probably is a startling discovery to even this reputed example of the best element in Mexican governmental circles. It should prove a wholesome bit of education to General Obregon and through him to his chief.—Rochester Post Express.

Daddy's Bedtime

The King's Story—Son Dances
With Ashputtel.

[Adapted from Grimm's Fairy Tales.]

WHEN Ashputtel went to the king's ball in her new fairy clothes, so different from her soiled ones, at first she was shy. She could not dance very well, either, because all her life her stepmother had made her do kitchen work. As she sat shyly by herself the king's son came up to her and invited her to dance. He took her by her hand and led her out, and Ashputtel was so happy that she danced so well he never let go of her hand. When other princes came to dance with her the king's son always said, "This lady is dancing with me."

"So they danced till a very late hour at night. Then when Ashputtel wanted to go home the king's son said, 'I shall go myself and take care of you to your home.' You see, my dears," said daddy, "this clever young prince wanted to see where his beautiful lady lived."

"But Ashputtel was afraid to have the prince go home with her lest her stepmother see him. So she slyly slipped away from him and ran off home alone. When she heard the prince following her she jumped into the pigeon house and shut the door."

"The prince waited till her father came along. Then he cried, 'A beautiful maiden who danced at my ball with me has hidden in your pigeon house, my dear sir!'"

"So Ashputtel's father got a big ax, and the prince helped him to break open the door. But they found no one inside."

"As they came into the house Ashputtel was lying in the ashes, as she always did, in her dirty frock, her dim little lamp burning in the chimney corner, for she had run as fast as she could through the pigeon house and on to the hazel tree, where she had swiftly taken off her beautiful clothes and left them under the tree. Her friend, the bluebird, had put them away, and she had run into the house and lain down in the ashes in her little gray frock."

"Now, the king's feast was to last three days. So the next day, when her father, her stepmother and two stepisters had gone to the party again, Ashputtel went out under the hazel tree and cried:

"Shake, shake, hazel tree, Gold and silver over me!"

"And the bluebird came with a still finer dress than the one she had worn the night before. When she came into the king's hall every one wondered at her beauty."

Then daddy looked at the clock, and the children kissed him good night.

CURRENT COMMENT

Cairo Herald: Good farm hands are as much in demand and as hard to get in Illinois just now as the proverbial good cook. All over the state farmers are accepting almost any kind of help in an emergency and looking about for the right sort.

Effingham Republican: An Iowa man wants all new postoffices built so that they can be used as forts. Under Mr. Burleson the postoffice now shows the Democrats pretty well entrenched in them.

Rockford Register-Gazette: The call to the people of the United States to get into world trade has been justified by the results in the Philippines. The exports to the islands from this country in sixteen years prior to American occupancy were $2,000,000, and in the sixteen years since that date, $201,000,000. Now it is proposed to abandon the islands, since they might involve us in war with Japan, or be a hard possession to hold against Japan attack.

Peoria Transcript: The Chicago builder who is designing flats for children defends his course by saying: "I was one myself." More power to him. Perhaps the day is near when children will receive the attention which is their due, and that flat architecture will show they have been deemed as valuable to society as pigs, chickens and cattle.

Illinois State Journal: Decatur announces that it is making extensive preparations for the entertainment of the Illinois division of the Grand Army of the Republic, which will gather in that city March 23, for its fiftieth annual encampment.

The announcement does credit to Decatur. It can go no too far in the matter of making the encampment a pleasant event for the survivors of the "magnificent volunteer force which saved the American nation from dismemberment and destruction. In all it does honor these gallant men, Decatur will do itself honor.

The day is rapidly approaching when the Grand Army will be but a memory, yet it will be glorious memory and an incentive to patriotism fervor in the centuries to come. It passes, yet will it live.

Decatur Herald: The dandelion is the curse of Decatur lawns in which property owners are beginning to take a just pride. One wonders if eventually the city council will not be compelled to ordinance the destruction of dandelions as it now ordines the cutting of noxious weeds on vacant lots. Persons, who at great expense and trouble endeavor to keep their grass plots free from dandelions have no protection from the wind-blown seeds from other grounds that are thick with the weed. The least that one can do is to mow it in time to prevent the heads from going to seed or to use a mechanical header.

Quincy Whig: Drafts of a bill to legalize horse racing with betting restriction are being sent to those interested in Illinois. The "sport king" has been rather neglected since Mexican troubles made it risky for sports from "the states."

Dandruff Surely Destroys The Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't. It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

Danville, Ill., May 16.—Mrs. William Decker, a farmer's wife, sold two dozen fine chickens to a buyer. The buyer asked Mrs. Decker to shut the chickens up in a coop, saying he would call later.

When Mrs. Decker went to the coop the morning the new owner was to return the chickens were gone, but a roll of bills containing $70 was lying on the ground.

A few hours later the buyer arrived. The first the farmer's wife knew of his presence was when she saw him examining the ground near the coop. He asked where the chickens were and was told they had been stolen. She didn't tell him about the $70 and he asked no questions.

The helpless buyer

Somebody ought to look after him

CAVEAT EMPTOR---That's one of the ancient Latin phrases that is still preserved in the substance of the law. If you've forgotten your Latin, and haven't legal knowledge, we'll translate it for you. It means "Let the buyer beware"; that is, let him look out for himself. There are still some merchants whose methods seem to be based on that principle; who say in substance "We're selling these goods for the money we get; we say about them whatever is necessary to attract buyers; let the buyer take care of himself."

Now, there's almost nothing you men buy that you know so little about as clothes. You can tell if they fit, and you can tell if you like the way they look on you. Beyond that, what do you know?

You can't tell all-wool from seventy-five per cent cotton; there are plenty of both, and in many cases at about the same price. You can't judge how good the linings are; you don't know what's inside between the fabric and the lining; you are not a judge of tailoring enough to know whether the suit's going to keep shape or not. Don't be down-hearted; these are things that even experts can be fooled on.

As we see it, our chief duty as clothing men is to look after the helpless buyer---that is, most men who buy clothes. It isn't our principal business to sell; but to be sure that when we do sell, you shall get as much, or even more value than you pay for. That really explains why we do sell so much fine clothing.

It explains also why we sell Hart Schaffner & Marx clothing

We know what these goods are, because we know the men who make them; you can tell more about a man's honesty by knowing his ideals, than by auditing his books.

All-wool fabrics; dyes that are safe; tailoring that's the best the possible; style that's the smartest; fit that really fits---any figure; and all backed by satisfaction guaranteed.

The fact is you can know almost as much as we do about clothes by just seeing the Hart Schaffner & Marx label in them. It's like a signature to a good check; a safeguard for the helpless buyer.

There's some great clothing values here for you men, $20, - $25, - $30.

They're clothing "investments." Our "Customers first" policy is one of the reasons that you should be interested in these clothes.

If the Burlington railway has a station on its entire system where it changes agents as often as in West Brooklyn, that station is to be pitted. We have had one agent here for almost 30 years and until he resigned and retired we had the best agent in the world. J. H. Terhune was that agent and he not only did his work well for the company but he accommodated the patrons of the office in a way they shall never forget. Since he retired we have had a dozen different agents here, some fair, some good and others who came simply to put in their time and draw their pay. This week we have another man, this time one who is supposed to be permanent and from first appearances we have another agent whom the people will find satisfactory and who will give them the consideration that is their due AND WE HOPE HE CAN STAY. The young man is Ray Price from down state.

Work has been going along so well

Some people still deny that this country is prosperous. A local instance to prove that the factories can not make their products fast enough is in the case of J. W. hier and T. his Franklin and Buick auto sales. Mr. Thier has been obliged to cancel five different orders for Franklin cars for local customers because the factory cannot make them fast enough to keep up with their orders. Mr. Thier has one Franklin coming about June 1st which he sold to John Halbmaier of this place and the others cannot be sent out before August or September. He is unable to secure more Buicks from the factory, either. Why, even the Ford factory cannot make Fords fast enough and hundreds of dealers are scrambling for cars. Mr. Henry, the local man, was fortunate in having three car loads sent him during the winter and he has been able to supply his customers from his ware rooms. He is to get another car load the middle of the month. The Studebaker dealers, Gehant & Alfas, could not secure any extra six cylinder models as long ago as February, showing how their supply was taken up.

THAT BACKACHE SPELLS DANGER

Action Today May Save Dixon People Future Misery

A bad back isn't a bad thing if it serves as a warning of hidden kidney disorders. Kidney diseases are frightfully common today. We overdo too much. We don't give the kidneys a chance to rest up, and while a bad back, some urinary disorder or occasional dizzy spell or a persistent headache may be the only outward sign, the kidney trouble that is behind it all may be overlooked or neglected. Put your signs to use. Take them as warnings. Fight off kidney weakness. It takes only a slight kidney disorder to start a case of fatal Bright's disease, from which 100,000 people in the United States every year prompt treatment at first—that's all that's necessary to keep kidney weakness from turning into gravel, dropsy, gout, heart trouble or Bright's. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—the oldest the most widely used, best recommended Kidney Pill for years and Americans recommend them publicly. Here's one Dixon case:

Mrs. J. Carley, 511 Spruce street Dixon, says: "My back was so sore that I couldn't walk erect and morning it was hard for me to get out of bed. Various medicines didn't benefit me and when a friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills, I got some at Leake Bros. Co. Drug store. After taking two boxes, my back was strengthened and I felt better."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Carley had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

A Deep Disappointment
President Wilson has a fund of good stories. One that he tells is of a little boy whom he encountered at Staunton, Va., the President's birthplace. Mr. Wilson was speaking to a good sized crowd from the steps of the Baldwin Seminary. It was when he discovered a little seven-year-old lad pushing and shoving his way through the crowd. The boy finally landed in front of Mr. Wilson and shouted excitedly:
"Where is it? Where is it?"
"Well, my boy, I guess I'm it."
"O, pshaw!" responded the youngster, with a look of disgust. "Why, I thought it was a dog fight."

No Spoils to Share
An old negro was charged with chicken-stealing, and the judge said:
"Where's your lawyer, uncle?"
"Ain't got none, judge."
"But you ought to have one," returned the Court. "I'll assign one to defend you."
"No, sah, no sah, please don't do dat," begged the defendant.
"Why not?" persisted the judge.
"It won't cost you anything. Why don't you want a lawyer?"
"Well, Ah'll tell yo' judge," said the old man confidentially. "Ah wants ter en'y dem chickens mahself."—Ladies' Home Journal.

STALWART OF OLD GUARD
Representative Wm. A. Rodenberg of East St. Louis was caught by the photographer in Washington in his usual fighting, aggressive mood. He is one of the old guard in the party and is going to be heard from at the Chicago convention.

DEVILED SCALLOPS.—Pour boiling water over a pint of scallops and let them stand three minutes, then drain and cut in squares.
Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add three tablespoonfuls of flour, half a teaspoonful of salt and pepper. Blend with butter until smooth, add a tablespoonful of lemon juice, three-quarters of a cupful of thin cream and stir until it boils. Boil three minutes, remove from fire, add yolks of two eggs well beaten and the scallops. Put in buttered shells or ramekins, cover with buttered crumbs and bake until brown.
Salt Pork With Milk Gravy.—Take several slices of salt pork cut rather thin and put them in cold water.
When the water comes to a boil turn it off and let the pork fry. While it is frying take a little cold water and stir a little flour or cornstarch into it until smooth, then pour milk into the hot fat, after removing the pork, and when it comes to a boil stir in the flour and water.

Japanese Eggs.—Three cupfuls of cooked rice, six fresh eggs, a cupful of milk. Place rice in a baking dish with cover, make six small depressions—one in center and five in circle around it—drop an egg in each, season with pepper and salt, pour milk over, cover the baker and cook in moderate oven for about fifteen minutes.
Crab Meat au Gratin.—To a pound of flaked crab meat add half a pint of thick cream sauce. Season with salt, pepper and a pinch of curry powder.
Mix well and place on a flat dish that has been evenly coated with butter.
Cover with breadcrumbs and grated Parmesan cheese, pour on a little melted butter and brown in a quick oven or under a gas broiler.

Hot Salmon Souffle.—Cut the salmon in slices about a quarter of an inch thick and put them in a saute pan with enough fish stock to cover them. If you have no fish stock cover the fish with water, add a sliced onion, a bunch of herbs, four or five small peppercorns and a pinch of salt. Bring to a boil, then let it simmer very gently for seven or eight minutes, remove the salmon into another saute pan, then strain and clarify the stock, allowing for each quart four whites and shells of eggs.

And She Kept on Smoking
"Aunt Chloe, do you think you are a Christian?" asked a preacher of an old negro woman who was smoking a pipe.
"Yes, brudder, I 'spects I is."
"Do you believe in the Bible?"
"Yes, brudder, I does."
"Do you know there is a passage in the Scripture that declares that nothing unclean shall inherit the Kingdom of Heaven?"
"Yes, I 'se heard of it."
"Well, you smoke, and there is nothing so unclean as the breath of a smoker. Have you ever thought of that?"
"Dey's nothin' to it. When I goes dere, I 'spects to leave my hie' behind me."

"You must remember, Sam, that you promised to take Liza for better or for worse."
"Yassir, I knows dat, boss," rejoined the dorky, "but—but she's wuss than I took her fur!"

Simpkins: Cast your bread on the waters and it will return to you after many days.
Brown: My wife woulda'. I would sink.—Somerville Journal.
